Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The market value of, and the income derived from, the shares of the Company may fluctuate in accordance with: the values of the investments held by the Company, exchange rates between sterling and the currencies in which underlying investments are denominated, and other market conditions. The value of the Company's shares may also fluctuate with supply and demand for the shares on the stock exchange on which they are traded. There is no guarantee that the market price of the Company's shares will fully reflect the underlying net asset value. Investors may not get back the full value of their investment. There can be no guarantee that the investment objectives of the Company will be met. The levels of, and reliefs from, taxation applicable to investment trusts may change.

The Company's portfolio is likely to be more concentrated than those of other investment funds and thus potentially carries a higher level of risk than a more diversified portfolio. There will be times when the Company's investment performance will be quite unlike that of any stock market index, which may or may not be to the advantage of the Company.

The Company may borrow in order to make further investments. This is known as 'gearing'. The effect of gearing can enhance investment returns in rising markets but will have the opposite effect where underlying asset values are falling. At the date of this fact sheet the Company is not materially geared. The Company may use derivatives principally to protect value in the portfolio and reduce costs. Investment gains may therefore be restricted in a rising market.
